BOB VEAL ON SALE.
Provision Dealer Tells of Tricks to Evade Law's Requirements.
Much "bob" veal is sold in this city almost every day, so it is alleged in spite of the fact that Bridgeport is a meat and provision inspector. A leading provision dealer in speaking upon this matter said that good veal was very hard to get at present, but he noticed that a certain class of meat dealers seemed to have no lack of a supply of this meat. He had seen several carcasses lately and was convinced from his personal knowledge that they were veal killed before they were old enough for food.
It is said to be very easy to get the carcasses of a "bob veal" on the market, as all the law requires is that it weigh a certain amount. The head and a portion of the entrails are left in the carcass, which by these means is brought up over the requirements of the law. There are, however, cases, so it is said, where pieces of old iron, etc., are concealed among the entrails in order to bring the weight up to the required standard.—Bridgeport Telegram.

Overtaxing Tax Dodger After Death.
One outrage on honest taxpayers is the dodging of taxes—a feat which some citizens seem almost to take pleasure in accomplishing. It isn't merely that they have saved so much but also that they have unloaded on the fellow citizens what otherwise they themselves would have had to pay. The inventor who discovers how to get at these tax dodgers will be entitled to general thanks.
A plan has been once submitted to our legislature, and not adopted, which is well worth trying again. If we are not mistaken, it was suggested and advocated by Charles E. Gross of this city. It prevails and works successfully in several other states. It is a method to make the estate of the tax dodger pay what its former owner evaded paying. If an estate is found by the probate court to contain taxable securities, then investigate and see whether the deceased has been paying taxes on this. There is no injury any difficulty in finding this out. Either the taxables were in the local list of the deceased or else they were registered (by number) at the state treasurer's office.
If a man, for instance, is found to have died leaving in his estate a bunch of bonds of the Pennsylvania road, which under the law are taxable in Connecticut, and if these bonds had not been included in his list or registered for the 4 mills tax, then get after them on discovery, and let the period of punishable delinquency cover, say, ten years. Nobody could complain that an injustice was done, and dodgers, as some body has said, this method would be "cages down without paint." It would be very healthy, nevertheless.—Hartford Courant.

RINGING DECLARATION OF RIGHTS
From the Woman Suffragists of Tennessee.
(Platform of the Tennessee Equal Suffrage Association.)
Being 21 years old, we object to being classed with minors.
Born in America and loyal to her institutions, we protest against being made perpetual aliens.
Costing the treasures of our country nothing, we protest against acknowledging the male pauper as our political superior.
Being obedient to law, we protest against the statute which classifies us with the convict and makes the pardoned criminal our political superior.
Being sane, we object to being classed with the lunatic.
Possessed of an average amount of intelligence, we protest against legal classification with the idiot.
We taxpayers claim the right to representation.
We married women want to own our own clothes.
We married bread winners want to own our own earnings.
We mothers want an equal partnership in our children.
We educated women want the power to offset the illiterate vote of our state.
Women who object to being thus classed and may be object to thus classing mothers, sisters, wives and daughters are urged to join the Knoxville equal suffrage league and help to obtain a higher classification.

The Tibetan Fugitive.
In the summer of 1904, the British expedition under Colonel Younghusband crossed the Himalayan mountains from India and entered Tibet for the purpose of penetrating the forbidden land and securing an agreement with the Tibetans guaranteeing trade rights to British merchants. The Dalai Lama, the political head of the Tibetan organization, fleeing before the invaders, he took refuge in the north under Chinese protection. Although the British remained at Lassa for some time, in the hope that he would return, he declined to put faith in the British and has taken refuge at Darjeeling on the southern slopes of the great mountain wall separating India from Tibet. Before leaving Lassa the Grand Lama appealed to Lord Minto for protection, which of course was refused, inasmuch as the British government has no desire to precipitate a conflict with China or otherwise to complicate the far eastern situation.—Washington Star.

BARDON COMPANY'S BUILDING
Contractors are Figuring the Plans for New Brick Building on Chestnut Street—Work at the State Hospital Expected to be Started Soon—Other Building Notes.

Plans have been drawn and submitted to contractors for a factory building on Chestnut street to be occupied by the Bard Union company. This concern is now located in Myers alley, but last fall secured a tract of land from George LeFrand, south of the Back with Printing plant and a new factory is to be erected this spring. A one-story building will be erected, the dimensions being 35x82. The office part of the building will be two stories in height, 35-17 on the front end of the building.
The floor of the building will be on concrete, while the floor of the office will be of reinforced concrete, and under the office end of the building there will be a cellar. There will be a wood and gravel road to the building, and windows in the building, inasmuch as the main heating plant, with electric lights, terrazzo floors, some dumb waiters, etc. Contracts for the plumbing and heating will be let separately.

Changing Residence Into Flats.
John L. Riley, who owns the land some residence at Thamesville formerly the Plant place, has decided to have it remodeled into flats, making three apartments in the house. There are over 21 rooms in the house, which commands an excellent view of the river. The large barn on the place is also to be changed over into a dwelling house. Mr. Riley owns considerable real estate here, but it is understood he contemplates moving to Providence.

First National Bank.
As soon after the first of April as the weather will permit the work of changing the front of the First National bank building will be started. The changes on the main floor have been referred to and a view of the changed front shown. Temporary partitions will be erected six feet back from the present front while the changes are being made, so that the tenants will not be interfered with. It is because of this and the fact that there will be some exposure to the weather that the work is delayed until next month.

SACRED HEART CONVENT, TAFTVILLE.

State Hospital Buildings.
It is expected that the contractors will arrive by the first of the week to begin work on the new buildings at the state hospital. The first work will be the excavation and then the construction of the new buildings. The entire summer will be a busy one for the building trades there. The contracts for the general construction of the new concrete work amount to $153,000.
The group of buildings to be erected consists of a south ward "B" building, which will accommodate 100 patients, 100 disturbed patients. There will also be erected a north ward "C" and south ward "D," which will accommodate 100 patients each, with corridors and tunnels 500 feet long. A fine engine house will be built on the new building, with sleeping quarters on the second floor. A new laboratory will also form one of the group, and an employees' dining room, connection with the kitchen. Most of the structures will be two stories high, of brick, reinforced concrete, and a half structure roof. They will be heated by steam.

WEST SIDE PINOCCHLE CLUB.
Two More Meetings Will Bring Series to an End.
The tenth meeting in the tournament of the West Side Pinocchle club was held on Thursday evening, and while S. H. Reeves secured in the first place, John Jordan advanced to second and Dr. N. B. Lewis to third place, while Peckham slipped back to fourth. There are two more meetings remaining in the series. The scores: Reeves 63,400, J. Jordan 63,350, Lewis 63,350, Peckham 67,125, Bailey 67,125, Cobb 64,125, Jordan 68,115, O'Neil 65,805, Pettis 65,165, Tetrault 63,250, Dibble 62,740, Rawson 61,450.

For Secretary of State.
Col. Matthew H. Rogers of this city, secretary of state for Connecticut, makes announcement in the press today that he desires to be again a candidate for that position, and puts himself upon his record.
Colonel Rogers has discharged the duties of his office in an entirely satisfactory and acceptable manner, and according to the recent custom with reference to that office he is entitled to a re-nomination.
Since the days of Edward Hopkins, the first secretary of state, in 1839, down to and including Colonel Rogers, there have been forty-six secretaries, whose terms have ranged from twelve days to sixty-one years. George Wyllis serving from 1755 to 1786. The grand average is about ten years. But in the old days when they found a good secretary they kept him in, terms other than that of Secretary Wyllis running thirty, twenty-five, twenty-three and fourteen years in some cases.
Those familiar with the working of the secretary's office at Hartford are agreed that it was never in better order, never conducted on a more accommodating principle for the public than under Secretary Rogers. He has done a lot of work that could easily have been put off upon some other office or department.
The different division in the office of the secretary were separated, labeled and so distinguished that whoever had business to do there could find immediately the particular clerk whom he wanted and have his wants attended to.
System, order, attention to detail, efficiency, have all marked the work of the office, and in taking up and executing the duties of the secretary, business Colonel Rogers saved the state the expense of a separate department with a new head and a lot of deputies, and in doing this accommodated the great mass of the automobile owners of the state, although he was compelled to fight for the work, almost alone. He won out and the automobile business is attended to promptly and properly. In short, Colonel Rogers has taken up the work of his predecessor, Mr. Bodinwell, of New London, which was universally acknowledged to have been excellent. He has kept up his high record and added to it as enlarging opportunities have occurred. On the record of his office, Colonel Rogers is entitled to a re-nomination and as a Bridgeport man he should and beyond question will command the support of Bridgeport's delegation to the convention. He is popular throughout the state and we should not expect to see any serious opposition to him at the convention.—Bridgeport Standard.

Don't Blame Your Stomach
When Without Exertion or Cost You Can Enjoy Meals And Cure Dyspepsia.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.
Don't blame your stomach or your luck when your meals distress you, or your system suffers. When the stomach won't do its work it is because it cannot.

It is because the stomach is not doing its work when the head aches and the stomach of mouth every morning makes you hate your breakfast when dreams and nightmares assail you, don't give up the fight. This is the appeal of nature, and it should be heard. Over-eating, late suppers, poorly chewed food, too rich pastries and under-done cooking are some of the causes of the stomach's ill health.

When the stomach is busy, it presses and churns all the liquid matter from food and with its juices dissolves into liquid form or pulp everything which comes into it.

If such food be poisonous it effects the juices, attacks the stomach, goes into the blood and weakens the entire system. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest a full meal easily without material assistance from the stomach. They will restore the gastric fluid with all the elements needed. They build up the blood, destroy sour taste, and break down the fermenting and acid mass, lying stagnant there and causes the stomach to once.

It is a healthful suggestion for you to solve. Your druggist will furnish Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets 50c the box, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package free. Address, F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Boston Ideas.
The Hartford Times quotes the Boston Transcript on the railroad situation in Rhode Island and Connecticut, to show the curious ideas of critics who live no farther off than the Hub and are supposed to know their ways about in that maze of tortuous thoroughfares. The Transcript says: "The people of Connecticut are also taking notice of these dawning developments. Two years ago the legislature of the state amended the law so that no railroad except the New Haven could enter it. They are now asking themselves whether they acted wisely. It would have been a good thing for the eastern part of the state had the Grand Trunk spent its line from Palmer to New London, instead of from Palmer to Providence."

Well, well. The Grand Trunk might have made a lot of people happy by using its $8,000,000 on the New London-Norfolk road, but if it had put another eight millions on top of that and laid out the whole on that line, it could not have made it begin in Palmer and end in New London any more than it does now and has done for sixty years or thereabouts.—Bridgeport Standard.

Business Is Dull.
Pickpockets are operating actively on Fifth avenue. Business must be extraordinarily dull in Wall street.—Detroit Free Press.

In Ireland spiders are largely concerned in the cure of ague; in many localities the sufferer is advised to swallow a living spider. This ought to make one shake nearly as bad as the ague, and no doubt the better way would be to put a large black spider in a box and leave it to perish, as is the vogue in Somerset and some of the nearby counties. A lingering fever in this old world superstition must have been alive until quite recently, for the making of spider web pills is not an uncommon industry in New England and Longfellow tells of a popular cure for the fever "by wearing a spider hung around one's neck in a nutshell."—Chicago Tribune
